The Makeup seat has a steel structure, chromed or painted, with seat and back in moulded polypropylene. The aesthetics of the Makeup family are characterised by its curved and delicate lines that go in harmony with any community or contract environment. The collection offers a complete range of seats designed to meet every style and functional need. The innovative interlocking modular system, without the use of screws, can give rise to various compositions with a single frame: seats with or without armrests. With the same principle, a practical assembly system can be used to link several seats together, both with and without armrests. Also, part of the family are: the task chair, the writing tablet chair, the stool and the bench. The versatility also extends to the choice of colour: six different colours are available. Of particular note is how effectively both the seat and the stool can be stacked.
